In education, as in any field, excellence and success come from those who take action.

It is known from the beginning that knowledge and learned people were valued and respected by the people. For this reason, it is our highest human duty to acquire knowledge, research in science, mobilize acquired knowledge and skills for the development of the country, and be able to contribute on this basis. One of the current requirements for the implementation of these important tasks is to study the experiences of foreign countries that have achieved high results in the education system and apply them in the education system of Uzbekistan, even when applied, directly it is necessary to pay attention not only to transferring effective methods, but also to the extent to which it fits our educational system, to our nationality, to our education and training processes.
