

Upbringing in a Modern Family

Rakhimova Raykhan Abdurasulovna

Researcher of «Family and Women» Research Institute

Abstract

This article talks about the issue of upbringing in a zamoavian family, about the shortcomings of children in the Aboriginal Vaun in families, taking into account the attention given to the younger generation today and the interests of the child without being indifferent to his future, the sphere of self-sufficiency on the way of life, recommendations and opportunities given by parents to.

Keywords: Modern, upbringing, opportunity, profession, future, information, law, process, School.

Today, the concept of a Modern Family is promoted to the public by family centers. In the "Modern Family model", an increase in the political-economic and social status of a woman leads to a change in the norms of roles and family life within the family. The parent leads a professional career and family commitment proportionally (equitably). Children are instilled with entrepreneurial skills and the idea of being independent. Strengthening the institution of the family in this regard, modern, prosperous and healthy families the criteria for spiritual and moral education and education of children, which play an important role in the formation, then come to the fore.

The Constitution of the Republic of Uzbekistan states that "the family is the main unit of society and has the right to be in the protection of society and the state." According to the new "Family Code" and Article 63, Part 2 of our Constitution, "marriage is based on the voluntary consent and equal rights of the parties. Article 16 of the UN Universal Declaration of Human Rights, adopted on December 10, 1948, contains such items:

1. Men and women who have reached puberty have the right to marry and start a family without any restrictions on their race, nationality and religious designation.
2. They enjoy the same right when they go through marriage, when they are in marriage and when they cancel it;
3. A marriage can be concluded only on the basis of free and complete consent of both parties undergoing marriage;
4. The family is considered a natural and fundamental cell of society and has the right to be protected by society and the state.

In the information age, so that any modern parent regularly deals with the upbringing of his child:

- lack of knowledge about specific modern and influential methods of Family Education;
- lack of pedagogical and psychological knowledge in foster care;

Because our parents in most families do not have enough formation of this knowledge, skills and competence, they are having problems instructing our young people correctly on the extent to which they use everyday media life.

In the upbringing of children, the activities of the family, school and the public should be one proportional to each other aimed at one goal, one should complement the rest, be in cooperation with each other. Only then does this activity bring the expected results without a single whole gives. The need to acquire knowledge for a child in a parent family should ensure that, thanks to science, a person reaches the peak of maturity. Kaljji of any field in science, reason and work. If a person diligently receives knowledge, can apply it in practice, sharpens his thinking, he will definitely achieve his goal, then our parents should provide opportunities and a family atmosphere for their children to study, engage in science.

Because of the insufficient formation of this knowledge, skills and competence in our parents in most of our families, we have problems in properly instructing our young people on the extent to which they use everyday media life.

In the upbringing of children, the activities of the family, school and the public should be one proportional to each other aimed at one goal, one should complement the rest, be in cooperation with each other. Only then does this activity bring the expected results without a single whole gives. The need to get knowledge for a child in a parent family should explain that thanks to science, a person will reach the peak of maturity. If a person diligently receives knowledge, can apply it in practice, sharpens his thinking, he will definitely achieve his goal, then our parents should provide opportunities and a family atmosphere for their children to study, engage in science.

If the parent explains to his child that your bright future is only in your acquisition of knowledge, whether you are engaged in Commerce, become an engineer, become a scientist, become a doctor or a constructor, run a firm-for all you need knowledge, need thinking, reason, the child will be the one who will strive for knowledge, will act for himself. If a child learns to earn money in ways that are not based on deep knowledge, the child will be disappointed with the acquisition of science, light-hearted in life, irresistible to adversity, lazy, unable to withstand the complex tests of life, will grow into the fact that in the future the family will not be able to manage. Showing excessive affection for the child, respecting all his desires, on the contrary, ignoring him completely, disinterest in him leads to the fact that children fade their interest in the book and plunge into the virtual world.

The effects of parents on children are as follows:

- parents are the main source of life experience;
- parents influence their child's behavior through methods of punishment or stimulation;
- the child learns the basics of behavior in society from his parents;
- the family provides a sense of security for the child in the outside world and in his assimilation;
- communication in the family is the main factor in the formation of the child's own views, norms, rules and ideas.

The affection and upbringing given to children by mothers cannot be given by the father. On the contrary, the love and upbringing given to children by the father cannot be given by a woman. The role of each in the family is different. Therefore, nature created a woman and a man. When fathers give children a life with their own temperature, their love, as the sun, our mothers, like the moon, illuminate the ways in which you connect with their light, and bring them up to the right path.

In a family, a parent should not leave the process of raising a child alone. Is it not one of the main tasks that parents set for themselves to take care of their child from infancy, wash him white, deliver White tarab to adulthood, live in the path of his maturation and make him a professional, married man? Looking back on our history, Ibn Sina replied that it is necessary to deal with the upbringing of a child earlier than his birth, starting with the mother's womb. In addition to this word, the famous educator A.S.Makarenko noted that upbringing under the age of five is extremely important in the formation of a child's personality. About this, he wrote: "...the main basis of upbringing will end at the age of five, which means that what you did until the age of five is 90% of the educational process, and further upbringing will continue on the basis of re-education."

An important role in ensuring the effectiveness of the formation of a Modern Family is played by the variety of methods of upbringing used. According to the purpose, content, theme and character of the spiritual and educational work carried out, the use of question and answer, work in small groups, a story, a round table, discussion, cluster, mental attack and other methods gives positive results.

It plays an important role in the study of public opinion, monitoring the results of education, improving its content, the correct choice of forms and methods of work. It is necessary to determine the methodological basis for studying this; determine the content and principles; choose effective methods; accurately determine ways to analyze, draw conclusions, make recommendations.

Conducting fundamental, practical and innovative research on the development of a Modern Family, internal relations in the family, interpersonal relations, rich cultural historical heritage and problems of traditional family values, strengthening their spiritual and moral foundations, bringing youth to family life important results are achieved on priority issues such as preparation.

The position of the family in society and social life is determined by the Educator of this family – a woman. After all, a woman who is considered a new generation educator, her consciousness, thinking are formed in the family, and the first concepts of national ideology are also formed in a family that grows up and grows up. With this in mind, the spiritual and spiritual etiquette of the mother in the family, exemplary behavior, good upbringing, experience and exactingness in raising a child play an important role in the growth of children from an early age as baodob. Especially the role and function of the mother in this very important. In front of his own child should be able to feel both mentally and mentally responsible for his future, responsibility. First of all, it is necessary that the mother has acquired knowledge related to the upbringing of the child, has the qualities of patience, order, knowledge, ingenuity and a dedicated heart. Only when the mother is able to properly absorb her affection, heart and soul will it be possible for the child to be brought up as a perfect person in the future. Sometimes the neglect of mothers, the inability to properly educate their children, causes defects in upbringing. It is appropriate to cite Rizouddin Ibn Fakhruddin's comments: "there will be great harm in place of benefit from a wife who could not bring up children. After all, such wives grow people among the people who are harmful from the seeds of the plague."

Experts believe that the main basis of upbringing will end at the age of five. So what we did to our child until the age of five is 90% of the educational process. Further upbringing continues on the basis of re-education. It is in this process that the most attentive to the upbringing of a child must be. In the hearts and minds of our sons and daughters, it is advisable to form a healthy lifestyle, a sense of respect for national and universal values, to educate them competently in all respects. It is no coincidence that the neighborhood and the Family Research Institute under the Ministry of neighborhood and family support, established by the decision of our president, paid special attention to strengthening families, family values as an important issue.

From these it is necessary that each of us is extremely attentive to the upbringing of our children, that we do not allow loyalty and carelessness in this important matter. In this regard, the preservation and development of values, especially those passed down from generation to generation, is, above all, a priority that is faced by parents. In other words, everyone should pay attention to our national values and form moral values in the minds of their child from childhood.

In increasing the socio-political activity of young people, first of all, many reforms considering that it is being implemented, there are also issues in this regard that are still waiting for their solution. In solving these issues, it is advisable to correctly and effectively use scientific legacies written in rare manuscripts inherited from our great ancestors. After all, our main goal is to educate our youth as mature people who live in the fate of this country, this nation.

Literature:

1. Akramova F.A. "Socio-psychological foundations of creating a healthy psychological environment in the family". Tutorial. - Tashkent, 2014.
2. Quronov M - scientific and pedagogical foundations of national education in secondary schools of Uzbekistan
3. Social visions of the Uzbek family in youth - Karimova V.M